3. HOW DO WE COLLECT YOUR PERSONAL DATA?

Not all personal data we hold about you will have been provided directly by you. Where your personal data has been provided to us by another party, this is likely to have been as a result of a client recommendation; by way of a third-party introduction; by your employer identifying you as their employee; or where you are a director or signatory of a legal entity that has entered into a business agreement (e.g., Distribution Agreement, Investment Management Agreement, Deposit Agreement) with Utmost.

We may also collect personal data from other sources which may include any subsidiary or affiliated company that is part of our group (the "Utmost Group"), public registers, databases managed by reputable organisations as well as the press and the Internet.

4. WHO HAS ACCESS TO YOUR PERSONAL DATA?

Your personal data is available on a need-to-know basis within Utmost, and can only be accessed by the employees of the relevant internal departments to the extent necessary to fulfil their respective tasks and responsibilities. Our employees process your personal data in accordance with our policies and procedures to ensure an adequate level of security.

Utmost may share your personal data, by electronic or other means, with third parties that may require access to them, such as:

- › Any subsidiary or affiliated company that is part of the Utmost Group;
- › Regulatory authorities where we are required to do so by applicable law or financial regulation;
- › Third parties where required by law, court order or regulation;
- › Third parties who provide services to us such as IT services, research and marketing services;
- › Third parties for the purposes of providing a business reference in circumstances where you are establishing a relationship with that third party; and
- › Other organisations, including the police or fraud prevention agencies and databases, to prevent and detect fraud.

In compliance with the Data Protection Law, we will only transfer your information to third parties where they provide an adequate level of data protection, either by their geographical location or by entering into standard contractual clauses for the transfer of personal data to third countries.

You may contact our Data Protection Officer for more information on the transfer of your personal data to third parties.

5. HOW LONG DO WE KEEP YOUR PERSONAL DATA?

We will only keep your personal data for as long as it needs to be retained to meet our legal and business requirements. Once there is no business requirement or legal obligation for us to continue storing personal data, it will be erased, destroyed or put beyond use until it can be permanently deleted or anonymised.

6. HOW DO WE SECURE YOUR PERSONAL DATA?

Protecting your personal data is very important to us.

Utmost has implemented adequate safeguards to ensure the confidentiality and security of your personal data by implementing appropriate technical, physical and organisational measures to protect personal data against accidental or unlawful destruction or loss, damage, alteration, unauthorised disclosure or access, and against all other forms of unlawful processing or further processing.

7. HOW CAN YOU UPDATE THE INFORMATION WE HOLD ABOUT YOU?

It is important that the information we hold about you is accurate and up to date. Please let us know if your information changes, or if the information we hold about you is incorrect.

If we have disclosed your personal information to another entity of the Utmost Group or to a third party as described above, we will also let them know about the changes unless it is very difficult or not possible for us to do so.

8. YOUR RIGHTS

Under the Data Protection Law, you have certain rights over your personal data. These rights are as follows:

- › You have the right to request access to your personal data as well as information on how we process it.
- › You have the right to obtain the rectification of any inaccurate or incomplete personal data we hold about you.
- › You have the right to request the erasure of your personal data, unless we have a legal obligation to process your personal information.
- › You have the right to seek the restriction of the processing of your personal data in certain circumstances.
- › You have the right to object to its processing. We shall no longer process the data unless there are compelling legitimate grounds for the processing.
- › You have the right of portability in relation to your personal data. This means you can request we provide you with the personal data we hold about you in a structured, commonly used and machine-readable format.
- › You have the right not to be subject to decisions based solely on automated processing. We do not carry out any automated processing which may lead to an automated decision based on your personal data.
- › Where we rely on your consent to process any of your personal data, you have the right to withdraw your consent at any time, without affecting the lawfulness of the processing based on consent before withdrawal.

To exercise any of the above rights, please contact our Data Protection Officer by post or email using the details provided in the section "IDENTITY AND CONTACT DETAILS OF THE DATA CONTROLLER AND ITS DATA PROTECTION OFFICER" below.

We will respond without delay and, in any case, within one month of receipt of your request.

We will not ask for a fee to exercise any of your rights in relation to your personal data, unless your request is unfounded, repetitive or excessive, in which case we may charge a reasonable amount in the circumstances. We will let you know of any charges before completing your request.

If you believe we have not complied with the requirements of the Data Protection Law, you have the right to lodge a complaint with our data protection supervisory authority.
