- 1 You may instruct us as to which underlying security or special deposit in the contract is to be sold on an ongoing basis to clear any negative cash balance. This instruction may need to be revised if the holdings within your contract are changed.
- 2 You may also choose to instruct us as to which underlying security or special deposit in the contract is to be sold immediately to clear any current negative cash balance.
- 3 You may instruct us as to which underlying security, special deposits or other Dealing Account currencies in the contract is to be sold in order to realise a specific cash sum (the amount you want to be credited to your Dealing Account) which can be used to settle any current negative cash balance and provide monies to cover future charges or withdrawals.
- 4 There is a dealing fee for the sale of each fund. If you choose to sell funds on an ongoing basis, the overdraft will be cleared when there is a minimum of £2,000* for each external fund, or £100* for each internal fund. For example, if you choose 3 external funds, the overdraft will be cleared once it reaches £6,000*, or if you choose 3 internal funds, the overdraft will be cleared once it reaches £300*. There will be also be 3 dealing fees applied if 3 external deals are placed. Deposits with banks and building societies count as external funds.
* or currency equivalent
- 5 The more funds you choose to clear an overdraft with, the higher the overdraft limit will be (£2,000 per nominated external fund or £100 per nominated internal fund) and therefore the longer it will take to clear, and the more debit interest will be charged.
